

Teachers' Reading for Pleasure Group

FREE CPD
2018-19

Calling all bookworms, teachers and NQTs!

Join our Teachers' Reading Group to chat books, Reading for Pleasure, pedagogy and practice. Whether you're an NQT or experienced Literacy leader, we'd love you to join us at our new OU/UKLA Reading Group near Greenwich.

We aim to foster teachers' knowledge of children's literature and children as readers through book talk with other passionate professionals. Through a mini-project, the group will also support teachers in developing their Reading for Pleasure pedagogy and practice, enabling them to build reading communities within – and beyond – the classroom.

If you have an appetite for books and are committed to developing children's passion, enjoyment and engagement in reading, then please join us for these six unique twilight CPD sessions throughout 2018-19.

Location: TBC
Time: 4.30pm – 6pm
Dates: 4th October, 1st November 2018
10th January, 7th February, 7th March and 6th June 2019

Spaces are limited, to book please email: sadiephillips@canarywharfcollege.co.uk

<https://researchrichpedagogies.org/research/reading-for-pleasure>

Key aims of the Project

- To foster children's reading for pleasure through supporting teachers' own Reading for Pleasure, as well as their research informed practice.
- To support the profession by building a professional community around Reading for Pleasure locally and online.
- To share teachers' resultant classroom/school development work on the Reading for Pleasure website.

